The Holy Spirit: Advocate, Teacher of Truth, Giver of Gifts

It may be said about our current faith practice and understanding that the Holy Spirit often gets little attention. We seem mainly Christ focused, and for good reason, Jesus manifests God in the flesh, someone we can relate to, someone we can imagine or envisage.

Not so the Holy Spirit. First of all it is very difficult for us who are used to more tangible realities to understand or appreciate the concept of a spirit. Often we are left in our minds with entities that look like they are covered in a sheet with two little eye holes to peer out of. No a spirit really doesn't cut it. Similarly we can fall into grasping the Holy Spirit as some kind of impersonal "force" like phenomenon such as arises in the Star Wars saga. The Holy Spirit is not like this at all.

So what are we left with? Apart from the two instantiations of the Holy Spirit, first as a dove at Jesus' baptism, and then as fire descending from heaven, as is illustrated in our first reading, our concept of the Holy Spirit is fairly shady.

To be clear the Holy Spirit is a divine person. We know this from the scriptural data we have at hand. Jesus commands the disciples to baptise in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit (Matthew 28:19). In St John's Gospel the Holy Spirit is given the title of Paraclete (Advocate) one who stands at one's side to assist (John 14:16, 26; 15:26). So too does the Holy Spirit teach the disciples (John 16:13). Furthermore this same Spirit installs leaders of the Christian community (Acts 20:28). Lastly the Holy Spirit is the giver of diverse gifts in the Church known as Charismatic gifts for the building up of Gods people and to witness to the Christian gospel in the world (1 Corinthians 12:4-11).

All of these capacities presuppose intellect and will. In our understanding of personhood which we derive from philosophy we can ascertain that only persons are entities which enjoy the use of intellect and will. In the configuration of the Holy Trinity there is only one intellect and will and these faculties find their fullness in each divine person. Thus the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit have the same intellect and will establishing them as the one God. The Holy Spirit then as a divine person is "adored and glorified" as God along with the Father and the Son. Like the Son, as we say in the Nicene Creed, the Holy Spirit is consubstantial with the Father, meaning that the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are one substance or one independently existing entity as God.

Similarly we ascribe to the Holy Spirit certain activities. In the Nicene Creed the Holy Spirit is described as the " giver of life". Whilst the capacity to give life is a prerogative of God, the Holy Spirit, as God himself, highlights the divine power to create and sustain all things. The Spirit is breathed into the first human in the Book of Genesis making even God's human creatures Temples of the same Holy Spirit (Genesis 2:7; 1 Corinthians 6:19). This state, that is, of the divine indwelling of the Holy Spirit within us, constitutes for us a condition which we recognise in Catholic theology as the state of Sanctifying Grace. When we are in a state of Sanctifying Grace we are pleasing to God and are in right relations with God. Yet we must be on guard to remain purified from sin so that we may be spotless Temples of the Holy Spirit. Let us heed St Paul's words:

MARRIAGE MATTERS

Differences Add Richness

Paul saw the Church as being a corporate body: various people, each with unique identities, talents, different skills and abilities, all contributing to bringing the Good News to others. Our differences became evident early in our marriage; these differences can be problematic or add richness to our relationship. The outcome depends on whether our choices are selfish or 'us' focused.

"Shun immorality..... Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, which you have from God? You are not your own; you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body." 1 Corinthians 6:18-20

Today as we recall the sending of God the Holy Spirit among us let us be firm in realising that this same Holy Spirit is always with us when we are in right relationship with God. The Holy Spirit, like he did for the Apostles, is among us to stand by our side in times of distress as the Advocate, to teach us the Truth about how to love God and how to behave as Christians, and finally God the Holy Spirit is given to us to be witnesses to Jesus Christ in the world helping others to know God and to serve him alone.

PENTECOST

Today we celebrate Pentecost, the day the Holy Spirit first came to the apostles and sent them out to become the Church and to teach the good news about Jesus everywhere in the world.

The Holy Spirit works in the Church in many ways. The Spirit inspired those who wrote the Bible and teaches us through priests and missionaries and teachers. Did you know that the Spirit even inspires us to pray?

In the same way a battery gives power to make a flashlight shine, the Holy Spirit gives power to believers to shine the light of Jesus. The bible says that by ourselves we can't love people very well and we can't live the life that God has for us. But Jesus said he would send us the Holy Spirit who would give us power to live for God and to shine the light of Christ.

Prayer: Dear God, thank you that you have sent us the power of the Holy Spirit. Please fill us up each day with the Holy Spirit that we would have the power to live for Jesus and let his light shine in our lives.

The Spirit inspired those who
